LOVE RULES ALL.

And said I that thy limbs were old? And said I that thy blood was cold And that my kindly fire was fled And my poor withered heart was dead And that I might not sing of love? How could I to the dearest theme That ever warmed a minstrel's dream, So foul, so false a recreant prove? How could I name love's very name Nor wake my harp to notes of flame?

In peace Love turns the shepherd's reed; In war he mounts the warrior's steed: In halls in gay attire is seen, In hamlets dances on the green. Love rules the court, the camp, the grove, And men below and saints above, For love is heaven, and heaven is love.

THEY BUILT THE ROAD.

And Gould Knew Where to Get the Rails to Do It. Jay Gould once wanted to build a short line to a certain place and found rivals in the field. To Sylvester T. Smith he gave imperative orders, "Get out as big a force as possible, and complete the road before the other fellows get wind of it. and we'll head 'em off." Smith reported presently, "Mr. Gould, we can get all the ties, fishplates, bolts, nuts and spikes we want, but we can't get the rails." "Telegraph to every mill in the country, and pay any price," said Gould. "I have done so, and there is no chance for a delivery under 12 months." "Then," said the little wizard, "go somewhere and a thousand other ills, are caused by and tear up something. 'We've got to have rails." He indicated the road to destroy, a branch or feeder of the Union Pacific.

tearing up a railroad that belonged to them. To their questioning he admitted all and had no excuse but that Jay Gould ordered him to do it.

"Who is Jay Gould?" some asked. "What has he got to do with it?" Up rose a young lawyer from New York to inform them that Mr. Gould owned all the bonds of the Union Pacific road, though not a dollar of its stock, and that he was absolute proprietor of the feeder that Mr. Smith had torn up. There never was a more surprised and mystified lot of men. They had nothing more to say.-San Francisco Argonaut.

SHE HAS A NEW VALISE.

Why She Bought It and Why, Also, She Will Not Lend It. A Portland woman tells this story, which may have a moral:

Several years ago her husband made her a present of a traveling bag made of black Russia leather, handsomely mounted and strong and serviceable. She had had it only a few days when tress borrowed it to take with her to "disease."

the White mountains. It looked so much nicer than her own was her apology. It had only been returned a few days when a friend who was going to take a little journey up among the hills of Oxford county begged the loan of it, and again it was taken down from "the upper shelf."

Then another friend, was to make a visit of a few weeks in Montreal. Could she take it? She could and did. By this time the new look had vanished, and still its owner had had no occasion to carry it.

One evening a favorite cousin called. He was captain of a brig which was to sail for the coast of Africa the next day, but he himself was going on a steamer via England. Did his cousin have a valise she wouldn't need for six months or so? Reluctantly the traveling bag was produced, and that was the last time the lady saw it for two years, when it reached her by the hand of a sailor from the brig. But it was in such a battered and foriorn condition that she consigned it to the waste barrel.

In the meantime she had bought a new valise, which she declined to lend. -Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

A Thoughtful Little Wife. Young Wife-My dear, there is a gentleman waiting in the other room. He wants to speak to you.

He-Do you know him? She-You must forgive me, darling, but of late you have been troubled with a cough, besides, you take so little care of yourself, and-oh, if you only knew how anxious I am about you. Suppose I were to lose you, love." (She bursts into sobbing and throws herself on his breast.)

He-Come, my dear, silly child, do be calm, do be calm. People don't die of a slight cold. Still, if it will pacify you, show the doctor in. Who is it? Dr. Pallot, eh?

Famous Gamblers.

Mme. du Barry was the most famous woman gambler of the time of Louis XV, but with her it was only a pastime. But Mme. Pompadour went in with the sole object of winning if she could. It is recorded that her winnings were enormous, and that in a single game she eased the pockets of the king of 25,000 louis d'or ($125,000).

EASE AND DISEASE.

A Short Lesson on the Meaning of a Familiar Word.

Disease is the opposite of ease. Webster defines disease as "lack of ease, uneasiness, trouble, vexation, disqulet." It is a condition due to some derangement of the physical organism. A vast majority of the "dis-ease" from which people soffer is due to impure blood Disease of this kind is cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla which purifies, enriches and vitalizes the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures scrofula, salt rheum, pimples and all eruptions. It tones the stomach and creates a good appetite, and it gives vigor and vitality to the whole body. It reverses the condition of things, giving the sister-in-law of her boarding mis- health, comfort and "ease" in place of

WHAT ARE VOLCANOES?

They Are Not Burning Mountains as We Understand That Term. "What are volcanoes?"

Nine out of every ten persons would immediately have an answer of some sort to the question above, for have they not a lively remembrance of having learned in their schoolbooks that "a volcano is a burning mountain, from the summit of which are sent out smoke and flames?" This popular fancy has been exploded by scientists, whose work is to explode popular fancies.

In the first place, volcanoes are not necessarily mountains. In reality they are just the reverse-that is, holes in the earth's crust. Out of these are thrown the materials which, accumulating, form the heaps which we popularly call mountains.

These are, then, the result and not the cause of the action. Neither are they "burning," as we understand the term. There is no combustion, nor any action we might reasonably call "burn

Lastly, the "flames," so called, are merely the reflection of the mass of molten rock and material inside the crater on the clouds of steam above, thus appearing as a glowing light. The friction, too, set up by the motion of the materials causes electricity, and hence the lightning discharges which add to the illuminating effect.-Pearson's Magazine.

Beau Brummel and His Boots. In the "Reminiscences and Recollections of Captain Grownow" (who was himself a famous dandy) occurs the following annecdote of Beau Brummel, the time being 1815. The dandy's dress consisted of a blue coat, with brass buttons, leather breeches and top boots, and it was the fashion to wear a deep, stiff white cravat, which prevented you from seeing your boots while standing. All the world watched Brummel to lmitate him, and order their clothes of the tradesman who dressed that sub lime dandy. One day a youthful beau approached Brummel and said: "Permit me to ask you where you get your blacking?" "Ah!" replied Brummel, gazing complacently at his boots, "my blacking positively ruins me. I will tell you in confidence. It is made with the finest champagne!"
